House Votes To Abolish 'Lame Duck' Congress Session

MEASURE CALLS FOR AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION

Resolution To End Short Session Wins By Overwhelming Vote of 289 To 93.

STATE APPROVAL NEEDED FOR MOVE

Three-fourths of States Must Approve Plan To End Sitting of Defeated Members.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—After many years of bitter controversy, the house tonight adopted a resolution to abolish the short or "lame duck" sessions of congress by the overwhelming vote of 289 to 93.

The measure now goes back to the senate. It provides for an amendment to the constitution to drop the short session of congress after the biennial November election. It also would permit a newly elected congress to be seated on January 4 instead of 13 months later and a newly elected president on January 24, instead of March 4.

Before the resolution becomes effective, however, the proposal must be submitted to the states and approved by 30 of the 48.

Carrying an amendment sponsored by Speaker Longworth to terminate the second annual session within four months, the measure was substituted for the Norris resolution previously approved six times by the senate.

The Ohioan said it was "the fair, square thing to do" to adopt the house measure as an amendment to the Norris resolution.

The motion to substitute the house measure for the Norris resolution was put by Chairman Gifford, of the house committee on the elections of the president and vice president, at Longworth's suggestion.

The fight came on the Longworth amendment, which was adopted by 230 to 148 on a record vote. Taking the floor for one of the few times since he has occupied the speaker's chair, Longworth said he would withdraw all his opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment if his amendment were adopted.

Longworth said he was not one who felt congress should go home, but under the original proposal with congress convening each January 4, for indeterminate sessions, congress could be in session perpetually. He warned against two years of congress continually in session.

The Ohioan said that under his amendment the sessions ending May 4 in even numbered years would make way for the national political conventions as well as for the biennial political campaigns.

"Then I also think," Longworth added, "that congress should be given a breathing spell."

Although the Longworth proposal was strongly opposed by Representative Sumners, of Texas, and Jefferson, of Alabama, democrats, and a large number of republicans, the parties split and put it over.

It was the same proposal that caused the defeat of a similar resolution in the house three years ago, when advocates of the Norris resolution insisted upon two indeterminate sessions.

Should the senate accept the amendment, final action would be possible at this session.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, author of the senate measure, described the Longworth amendment as "bad," but did not commit himself against it. He added, however, he could not see how it could be supported.

Union League Club Bar for New Home

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The New York Times today said the Union League Club had made provision for a bar in its new club house with the expectation that the prohibition law soon would be repealed.

The membership is composed largely of republicans high in political and social life.

George W. Fraker, a member of the house committee, was quoted as follows:

"We hope and expect to see prohibition end very soon. More than three-fourths of the Union League Club are active wets, and prohibition cannot die any too soon for us."

'BIG BILL' WINS G. O. P. NOMINATION AS CHICAGO MAYOR

Thompson Holds to Lead of 45,000 Over Judge Lyle; Election Totally Without Violence.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(AP)—"Big Bill" Thompson, invincible as ever, won his fourth mayoral nomination in the republican primary election today, defeating by a plurality estimated at 45,000 the crime-battling judge, John H. Lyle.

With less than 600 precincts missing, Chicago's cowboy mayor had corralled 226,907 votes, while Judge Lyle harvested 183,713 and Alderman Arthur F. Albert, leader of anti-administration forces in the city council and a partisan of Senator Charles S. Deneen, trailed with 80,073.

Thompson lumbered into the lead from the start and less than two hours after the polls closed, the Daily News supporting Albert, conceded the nomination to the incumbent and predicted he would win by 50,000. Thompson himself said he expected to beat Lyle by 60,000.

To "Big Bill" Thompson, the picturesque, blustering bombastic boy of nearly 62 years, it was another sweet victory.

Defeat has rarely tasted. Alderman some three decades ago—on a reform platform; three years later, with an interval of four years when he retired voluntarily as a schism severed his own following, he emerges now from a political power whose career with the opportunity to win the mayoralty for the coveted fair term and with it count more years in the executive chair of America's second city than any other man.

The background of the impending finale to the current political drama there yet lurks a dark horse, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, corner of Cook county and a political power whose election to his present position was won by the largest majority given a democrat in 1928.

Dr. Bundesen has kept his own counsel through the tumultuous, bitter weeks of the recent mayoral campaign, but rumor has persisted that he awaited only the result of the primary election to jump into the open as an independent candidate.

He first attained political prominence as city health commissioner by appointment of Mayor Thompson himself.

HOUSE HORSES COUNTY MERGER

Unanimous approval by the house of representatives to the proposed merger of Fulton and Campbell counties was given Tuesday when it adopted a resolution, offered by Representative Alpha A. Fowler, of Douglas county, extending congressionally to the people of Campbell county and designating them as pioneers in "this progressive movement."

The resolution reads: "Whereas, The question of consolidating counties in Georgia is being most earnestly indorsed by the press and leading men in all sections of the state, and

"Whereas, On February 17 the voters of Campbell county by an overwhelming vote ratified the proposed plan to merge Campbell with Fulton county.

"Therefore, Be It Resolved by the house of representatives that we extend our congratulations to the gentleman from Campbell, Mr. Gullatt, and the people of Campbell county for being pioneers in one of the most important matters affecting the economic welfare of our people.

"Be It Further Resolved, that in order that the minds of our people may be more fully directed to thoughts of this progressive movement, the press be furnished with copies of this resolution."

Peachtree Street Shop Held Up and Robbed by Lone Bandit

Sorry they were made the victims of a lone bandit who late Tuesday afternoon held up and robbed their offices of approximately $300, but rejoicing just a little that in his flight the robber stopped to purchase a $5 hat on the first floor, officials and employees of Zachry, Inc., are shown here surveying the offices after the bandit's departure. In the photograph at the left A. L. Zachry, president of the company (nearest the door), and H. H. Hutchins, secretary-treasurer, are shown looking into a stockroom where they and a number of employees were locked up by the bandit just before his exit. At the right Mr. Hutchins is seen replacing in the safe ledgers and papers strewn about the floor by the bandit in disgust when he failed to find additional money in the safe. At the lower right Miss Maradelle Wood and Virgil Bradford, telephone operator and assistant cashier, shown as they stood while Bradford complied with the bandit's order to hand over the contents of his cash drawer. 18TH AMENDMENT DECLARED VALID

Supreme Court Reverses Clark But Halts Double Prosecution of Violators

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The supreme court today, with vigor and emphasis, held the eighteenth amendment constitutional and lent an aid to the prohibition laws by exempting from prosecution under internal revenue laws for the same offense.

In a clearly worded and unanimous opinion the court sustained the validity of the amendment against the contention of Federal Judge William Clark, of New Jersey, who ruled it had been improperly ratified.

Decision in the double prosecution case involved Anthony LaFrance, of New Orleans, and the Waterloo Distilling Co., of Waterloo, N. Y.

It placed the entire question upon the shoulders of congress and lent an added significance to the much-disputed and much-disputed report of the Wickham commission.

The Clark decision was based upon a contention that the amendment to be valid should have been ratified by state popular conventions rather than by the state legislatures.

Counsel supporting Judge Clark's position argued the fifth article of the constitution differentiated between amendments making changes in governmental machinery and those affecting the liberties of the people.

Amendments of the latter category, it was contended must be submitted by congress to state conventions.

Mayor Walker Is Silenced By Potlikker Controversy

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP)—With a fine dish of corpore and potlikker at his disposal, Mayor James J. Walker still maintained profound silence tonight on the "dunking" controversy raging in the south.

Eager reporters couldn't learn whether he dunked or crumbled his pike in the likker, or whether he ate it at all.

Asked last week whether it was proper to dunk or to crumble, the mayor decided the question so far as he was concerned by saying he didn't like corpore.

That startled the southerners, who apparently came to the conclusion he had never sampled the real article. So The Atlanta Constitution sent him a thermos bottle supplied by Jacob Pharmacy Company.

The consignment reached the mayor's office just as he was about to leave city hall. He wouldn't say a word.

The corpore and potlikker sent by air mail to Mayor Walker by the publisher of the Constitution was prepared by two of Atlanta's outstanding cooks, the pike by Willie Daniels, negro caterer, and the potlikker by Henry Jordan, on the staff connected with the Davidson-Paxon team. The potlikker was shipped in a thermos bottle supplied by Jacob Pharmacy Company.

ALABAMA SENATE NAMES POTLIKKER COMMITTEE
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The "dunk and crumble" controversy today was carried to the floor of the Alabama state senate and caused the appointment of a "potlikker" committee.

Senator Kelly, of Morgan, brought the matter before the senate in a resolution that set forth that the controversy had caused a large number of Alabamians to wonder "which of the methods or processes is proper, and right and best for man's well being."

"Therefore, be it resolved, by the senate, negroes Hines Long, Mayor James Walker, and the whole state of Georgia to the contrary notwithstanding, that on and after adoption of this resolution, the proper process or method of eating, consuming or partaking of said corpore and potlikker in the state of Alabama shall be that process known as the 'crumbling' process."

Amid shouts of "refer it to the temperance committee," the "committee on public health" and the "committee on education," Lieutenant Governor Merrill named a "potlikker" committee with Senator Kelly as chairman, to consider the bill and report it back to the senate.

Disension from the "dunkers" is manifest, one senator saying off the floor he would seek to amend it to making "dunking" the official process.

LOUISIANA ICONOCLAST STRIKES AT POTLIKKER
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Just another round between Governor Huey P. Long and The Atlanta Constitution in the corpore dunking controversy.

Potlikker isn't fit to eat any way you fix it," put in L. M. Spencer, of Tallulah, La., a member of the committee on federal relations of the Louisiana house of representatives.

"Whether dunked or crumbled it is unfit for human consumption and people in my section of the state so regard it," this authority said.

DANCE PROMOTER SOUGHT BY POLICE

Miller Charged With Skipping With Funds of Community Kitchen.

A bench warrant for the arrest of Henry B. Miller, of Seattle, Wash., missing promoter of two charity balls at the Shrine mosque for the benefit of the Atlanta Community Kitchen, was issued late Tuesday following his indictment by the county grand jury on two charges of larceny after trust.

The true bills voted against Miller charge that he skipped the city with $400 belonging to the Leslie Kent orchestra, which furnished the music for the dances, and $468.61 of funds belonging to the kitchen which was to have been turned over to J. R. Nix, president of the Restaurant Owners' Association, which sponsors the kitchen.

The indictments were voted against Miller after Mrs. Arthur Hazard, treasurer of the Atlanta Woman's Club, testified that Miller had cashed the check given him to be turned over to the orchestra and has failed to account for money taken in at the door of the mosque last Thursday and Friday nights when the dances were given.

Private detectives working on the case reported that Miller is supposed to have left Atlanta about 2 o'clock Saturday morning for Louisville, Ky.

Griffith was reported to be in New York.

Nevada Moves To Meet Divorce Competition

CARSON CITY, Nev., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Nevada may go Arkansas and other states one better in their attempt to place themselves on a par with Reno by enacting 90-day divorce laws.

Assemblyman Waltz, of Reno, today introduced a bill in the Nevada legislature to make it possible to grant a divorce after seven weeks' residence in the state.

The bill makes no change in the divorce statutes, except to reduce the time of residence from three months to seven weeks.

Attorneys in Reno said the bill might be amended to make the residence period 30 days.

ASSASSINS FAIL TO SLAY MACHADO IN TWO ATTEMPTS

Bomb in Palace and Pistol in Hand of Cuban Youth Fail To Touch President.

HAVANA, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Cuban celebrants of the republic's independence today were excited by the knowledge that the life of President Gerardo Machado has been endangered twice in 24 hours.

The first such attempt came yesterday when a bomb planted by a Cuban sentry, exploded within the presidential palace.

The second was this afternoon, while the president was delivering a speech in dedication of the new capitol. A youth attempted to draw a pistol from his pocket, but was immediately seized by police, although, in the meantime, so much excitement and scuffling had been created that the address was held up for a few minutes.

Police told last night of a bomb being placed in the palace, but indicated that it had been discovered before a person who had placed it there had had time to detonate it.

Today it was learned that the sentry had placed his explosive, a heavy piece of pipe filled with dynamite, in a four-inch vent running from the roof to the president's bathroom on the third floor, with a long fuse attached, to be lighted from the top and explode the bomb in ten minutes.

The sentry did not know that in recent years the president had been left in the vent which cut its diameter by half. Thus the bomb stopped in the bathroom of the floor above that occupied by the president, which is occupied by his son-in-law, Emilio O'Brien. It partly wrecked this bath, blowing its plate-glass partitions to bits and endangering the lives of the son-in-law's children in an adjoining room.

Today's incident at the capitol created great excitement for a few minutes but soldiers and police quickly restored order and the president continued his speech, pleading that peace be maintained throughout his restless domain.

Otherwise the festivities were as carefree as in any year, with the young republic celebrating the "Grifido de Baire"—the 36th anniversary of the uprising at Baire which opened the successful war for independence from Spain—the inauguration of a new 700-mile highway, and the dedication of the new capitol, which cost $18,000,000. The festivities began at midnight with great revelry.

SENATE TO DEBATE W. & A. BILL TODAY

BY R. E. POWELL.
Having once again defeated a bill to restore the use of the lash on convicts, and placed the powdered milk bill at the end of its calendar, the senate this morning will begin debating the principal measure before the special session of the general assembly; the Battle-Allyn bill to discount Western & Atlantic railroad rentals for ten years.

This bill, having been passed in the house 11 days ago, has reached the senate calendar with a committee amendment allocating one-half of the probable yield, $3,400,000 to the common schools and providing that the schools thereafter share on a pro rata basis with institutions confronted with financial emergencies.

While the upper house considers this piece of legislation, approved by members were assured Tuesday by Representative Alpha A. Fowler, of Douglas, when Madame Schumann-Boyer income tax bill.

LONE DESPERADO GETS $300 LOOT AT ZACHRY SHOP

Robber, Walking Out of Shop, Buys Hat With $5 of Holdup Proceeds, Escapes Into Crowds.

EMPLOYEES HELD AT BAY WITH GUN

Office Workers, Including President, Herded Into Room and Cash Drawer Emptied.

BY L. A. FARRELL.
A well-dressed, apparently well-educated and decidedly sophisticated bandit, who patronized these who patronize him, late Tuesday afternoon held up and robbed the offices of Zachry, Inc., clothing store, at 87 Peachtree street, diagonally across from the Piedmont hotel, locked the president of the company and seven employees in a stock room and escaped with about $295 in cash and a new $5 hat.

In order to acquire the hat the bandit, after fleeing from the fourth floor offices of the company, stopped on the first floor and purchased the headpiece he previously had selected and gave in payment a $5 bill, taken from the roll of money he had acquired at pistol point from the store's cashier.

It was after 5 o'clock, near the close of a business day marked by steady rain, when the bandit entered the shop and announced his desire to purchase a hat. A floor-walker turned him over to E. L. Rollins, a clerk, who displayed a number of models from the Zachry stock.

"My customer" was exceedingly polite and knew just as much about hats as any I have ever served," Rollins said later. "He went over what I showed him very carefully. After a minute or two I knew he wanted something smart. Finally he settled on a pearl gray and excused himself, saying he would be back in a few minutes. I had the hat put in a box and wrapped it."

The customer then went to the elevator and rode to the fourth floor. There A. L. Zachry, president of the company, H. H. Hutchings, secretary-treasurer, and a number of employees were at their routine duties. Virgil Bradford, assistant cashier, was behind the cashier's window. Nearby, operating a switchboard, was Miss Maradelle Wood. Mr. Zachry and Mr. Hutchings were only a few feet distant.

Mr. Bradford looked up as the man approached, preparing to serve him. Instead he found himself looking at a pistol in the bandit's well-manicured right hand. He complied with the bandit's order to hold up his hands. Miss Wood was likewise seized from the switchboard, preventing any chance of her spreading an alarm. She complied. Mr. Zachry and Mr. Hutchings likewise raised their hands.

"Give me all the bills in the cash drawer," the bandit ordered.

Plan To Lease New Course Meets With Key's Approval

Private Interests Would Complete Bobby Jones Course and Develop Center for Recreation.

Leasing of the borough-owned Bobby Jones golf course along lines proposed by O. F. Freeman, civic engineer, who made the proposition Tuesday in behalf of private interests, gained the tacit sanction of Mayor James L. Key, who declared that such a plan seemed feasible.

The interests which Mr. Freeman represents propose to complete the 18-hole course, funds for the completion of which are lacking, spend $100,000 in erection of a clubhouse, swimming pool, bathhouse, tennis courts and other recreational features and payment to the borough of Atlanta for use of the 110-acre tract of $4,000 annually for the 20-year life of the lease.

In making the proposal, Mr. Freeman stipulated that the only condition which the borough must meet will be steps to relieve the condition created by dumping millions of gallons of untreated sewage daily into the Peachtree creek near the site of the course.

"While I would not commit myself to any one plan for lease of the tract, I can say that I feel that some such proposal would be a good one for the borough," Mr. Key said. "The proposition as offered will require some little study before I am in a position to say whether I would favor it or not."

Plans as outlined by Mr. Freeman would not return of approximately $18,000 a year to the borough, he declared, in submitting it, and the course would be open to all the public at all times.

If the proposal is accepted, work could be begun at once and it could be completed in time for actual play this fall, it was pointed out.

Councilman John A. White, who was chairman of the 1930 parks committee, council, urged appropriation of additional funds to complete the course to prevent much of the work, already done by Fulton county in co-operation with borough forces, from being wasted. He especially urged sodding of greens, stating that failure to do so within the next few weeks would cost the borough $25,000 in replacing them.

In addition to operating the sports activities, plans of the Freeman interests contemplate a restaurant, and all other facilities required to establish one of the south's finest recreational and entertainment centers.

"We plan the last word in a clubhouse, and as good a golf course as can be constructed," Mr. Freeman said, "in the event our bid is accepted. Rentals from the property alone will net the borough $80,000 during the 20-year life of the lease. Added to this will be all the improvements, which will revert to the borough at the expiration of the lease rights. We think it is a good proposal for the borough."

International League of Aviators' Committee Makes Award.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Dieudonne Coste, Paris-to-New York flyer, tonight was designated the world's premier aviator by the awards committee of the International League of Aviators.

Miss Amy Johnson, who flew from London to Australia, was given highest honors among women fliers. She and Coste will be received at the Elysee palace tomorrow by President Doumergue and be presented with silver cups at a formal ceremony.

Coste's only rival at the committee session was Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, the Australian "ace," and the Frenchman was chosen because he holds five world records in addition to the accomplishment of his Atlantic flight.

The committee also ordered plaques to be struck to honor Mrs. Victor Bruce, Maryse Bastie and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh.

Frank Hawks, speed flyer, was named premier American aviator. Admiral Richard E. Byrd was awarded a golden plaque of honor for his flight to the south pole and plaques were also voted for Colonel Charles Lindbergh and Bernt Balchen. Wing Commander Kingsford-Smith was awarded the national trophy for Australia.

One of the south's finest recreational and entertainment centers.

"We plan the last word in a clubhouse, and as good a golf course as can be constructed," Mr. Freeman said, "in the event our bid is accepted. Rentals from the property alone will net the borough $80,000 during the 20-year life of the lease. Added to this will be all the improvements, which will revert to the borough at the expiration of the lease rights. We think it is a good proposal for the borough."

WIFE'S QUICK ACTION FRUSTRATES ROBBERY

Would-Be Theater Bandit Slain As Result of Woman's Quick Wit.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP)—A woman's alertness foiled a $4,500 hold-up in Brooklyn this morning, resulting in the death of one bandit and the routing of his four companions. A policeman was wounded.

Harry Millstein, assistant treasurer of the Fox Congress theater, was handed a message at his home by an untried stranger. It was signed by his employer and directed him to meet the latter at a restaurant in 10 minutes. Immediately suspicious, he told his wife, Hilda, to notify police if he did not return in a reasonable time.

Peering out the window, Mrs. Millstein saw a second man join the first and a gun placed to her husband's head as they drove away. She ran down the street and notified four patrolmen. She advised them of a short cut and they arrived at the theater simultaneously with the hold-up men and their prisoner.

A pitched battle ensued in the foyer, the bandits being reinforced by three others. Morris Jacobs, 25, was shot three times and died later in a hospital. Patrolman Edward Muller received two wounds and was removed in a critical condition. The gang fled, one of them apparently badly hurt.

SCHROEDER BREAKS AT SIGHT OF FAMILY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The stoical attitude of Harold Herbert Schroeder, of Mobile, Ala., toward his trial for first degree murder melted away in tears as he came into criminal court today and sat down with his wife and two young sons.

Schroeder is charged with the murder of an unidentified man whose burned body was found last May near here in the smoking ruins of the Mobile man's automobile.

The trial started this morning and by noon 12 men had been tentatively seated in the jury box. Challenges by defense counsel, however, were expected to remove several.

Sun Will Shine This Afternoon, Forecast Says

The sun will make its familiar appearance in the western heavens this afternoon after an absence since Monday, but it will be preceded this morning by a continuance of Tuesday's rain, C. F. von Herrmann, the government meteorologist said Tuesday.

Mr. von Herrmann was back at his weather bureau post after being absent two days on account of illness.

Temperatures today are expected to range between 30 and 57 as compared with Tuesday's range of 37 and 51.

NEW BREAK FORESEEN IN REPUBLICAN PARTY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Several republicans of independent leanings may stay away from Thursday's caucus of the house republican membership.

The session has been called for selecting a candidate for speaker and party floor leader in the next congress. While so far as is known no opposition has developed against either Speaker Longworth or Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the present floor leader, some members have been trying to establish whether the action of the caucus would be binding on those who attended.

Representative LaGuardia, of New York, has presented a written request for this information to Representative Hawley, of Oregon, who will be in charge of the caucus.

Other republican leaders said it was the custom for members not desiring to concur to leave the room.

Representative Maas, of Minnesota, is one of several who have indicated they may not attend.

TEXTILE MILL HEAD PASSES IN DANVILLE

Harry Fitzgerald Was Trustee of Emory University at Time of Death.

DANVILLE, Va., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Harry R. Fitzgerald, cotton mill president and former head of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, died early today following a heart attack. He was 58 years old.

Mr. Fitzgerald was stricken suddenly late last night and less than two hours later after physicians had administered to him and he appeared a second attack came. He died a few minutes later.

He had been directly connected with the Riverside and Dan River mills, founded by his father, for more than 40 years. He was employed as office boy at the age of 17 and 30 years later was elected president.

During the World War, Mr. Fitzgerald served on two committees of the war industries board. He was a trustee of Emory University, at Atlanta, and of the Ferrum school, at Ferrum, Va., at the time of his death. His mills recently were subjected to a four-month strike, which ended January 20 by a vote of the workers. Mr. Fitzgerald is survived by his widow and four daughters, Mrs. Fuller Hill, of Durham, N. C.; Mrs. Russell Gant, of Raleigh, N. C.; and Misses Harriet and Ida Fitzgerald, of Danville.

Funeral arrangements had not been announced early today.

GRAND DUKE FRIEDRICH

OLDENBURG, Germany, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The former Grand Duke Friedrich August, of Oldenburg, died today at the age of 67.

The grand duke abdicated November 11, 1918, when a body of revolutionary sailors from Wilhelmshaven told him that the time for royalty in Germany had passed.

He lived quietly on his family estate, Rastade, and took up farming and local industrial interests. His eldest daughter, Sophie Charlotte, married the former kaiser's second son, Prince Bittel Friedrich. She divorced him after the war and married a cavalry captain, Harald von Hedemann.

WILLIAM MCALLA

BELFAST, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Word was received here that William McCalla, former real estate magnate of the Ulster Yacht Club, died today while on a health cruise near Bermuda. He accompanied Sir Thomas Lipton to the United States last fall in the latter's attempt to win the America's cup.

'Morals Clause' Violation Laid To Mary Lewis

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Charges that Mary Lewis "became involved in a scandal" and violated the morals clause of her contract were made by Pathe Studios, Incorporated, in filing answer today in superior court to a $22,500 suit brought by the grand opera singer.

Miss Lewis said she was engaged by the film company to star in a sound production but it failed to make the picture and paid her only $2,500 of the $25,000 salary agreed upon.

Pathe, in its answer, contends Miss Lewis broke the contract, charging she "became intoxicated and involved in a scandal and became the subject of comment by publications reflecting upon her character and tending to lessen her drawing ability and popularity as an actress." The answer did not give details.

The company also claims it lent Miss Lewis $2,500 "to enable her to avoid being interviewed by newspaper reporters concerning the incidents," adding it attempted to aid her, by making sound and screen tests, in obtaining employment at other studios.

A. B. C. VALUATION UPHeld IN COURT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission was sustained by the supreme court today in the investment valuation it placed on the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast railroad, now a part of the Atlantic Coast Line system.

In October, 1929, the commission issued what it termed a report requiring the railroad to make its balance sheet show an investment in road and equipment of $9,261,043, as of January 1, 1927.

The railroad protested, claiming that the value was approximately $30,000,000, and appealed to a statutory three-judge court, contending that the action of the commission was an order and not a report.

The court sustained the position of the railroad, held the action of the commission void, and ordered it to grant the railroad a further hearing.

CONSTANCE BENNETT ILL WITH INFLUENZA

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Constance Bennett, Hollywood's newest star of films, was confined to bed today from an attack of influenza. A doctor and nurse were in attendance.

At Pathe studios, where she recently signed a contract calling for a salary of $50,000 a week for five weeks, it was announced work on a picture starring Miss Bennett had been stopped and she would be unable to appear for two weeks.

Mothers Should Remain In Place, Says Judge

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The Chicago National Congress was told yesterday that there is much juvenile delinquency because "too many mothers have assumed the duties of fathers, thinking their own."

The speaker was Judge Francis B. Allegretti, of the Chicago boys court. "Notwithstanding women's equality with men in the present scheme of things," he said, "father is still head of the family, or should be. It is the mother's duty to inculcate character in their children. The unbalancing of these duties is responsible for so-called 'flaming youth.'"

TAX DRIVE TO HIKE VOTING STRENGTH

Many Thousand "Dodgers" Will Be Added, Borough Officials Believe.

Atlanta's drive to corral the greater part of its 43,000 tax dodgers and to enrich the borough treasury by approximately $400,000 this year bid fair Tuesday to increase the registration list by many thousands of persons and thus to hike the voting strength.

Joe Little, tax assessor, and Chairman Claude L. Farnwell, chairman of the tax committee of council, Tuesday declared that delinquents are being added to the registers at the rate of more than 100 a day, and that each of them will return about $20 to the coffers of the borough.

Farnwell pins his hopes for making up the $500,000 deficit in municipal finances on increasing the revenue through placing the tax dodgers, which the recent United States census indicates are here, on the tax books.

As things now stand, the borough is nearly $500,000 in the red because of an adverse ruling in Fulton county superior court on an attempt to abolish water discounts previously given the 37,000 customers. The only avenue now open to the borough without legislative action is the source on which Farnwell and tax assessors are concentrating their efforts.

When the drive was first begun even the most optimistic thought that only $75,000 could be raised. It was thought that only street taxes amounting to about $3 each could be collected, but with the progress of the campaign it has been found that many of those who failed to make tax returns own automobiles and have expensive furniture.

It also has been found that an exceedingly large percentage have not made returns for several years and are, therefore, subject to taxes for the past four years. The average collected in the first stages of the drive was $12 per person, but that has been hiked through recent assessments due, Mr. Farnwell declared Tuesday, to those having more property to $20 per person.

The census report shows that there are 65,000 males in Atlanta between the ages of 21 and 50, while the figures of the borough show that only 25,000 of this number are actually on the tax books and paying taxes to the borough.

Registration in Atlanta for primary elections totals about 25,000 each year. That number would be materially increased if delinquents also registered for elections.

YOUTH KILLS SELF BEFORE ALTAR

CONWAY, S. C., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Standing in front of the altar of the Conway Methodist church, Paul E. Holliday, 24-year-old college graduate, committed suicide some time last night by firing two loads from a shotgun into his body.

His body was found in front of the altar today by an employee of an electric light company who went to the church to read the light meter. An automatic shotgun lay by an empty shell on the floor and another one that had been discharged in the barrel.

Notes found on the body, in Holliday's handwriting, indicated he intended committing suicide. Young Holliday was a graduate of the class of 1928 of The Citadel at Charleston and was unmarried.

Atlanta Clubwomen Crumble and Dunk at Luncheon

Prominent Atlanta clubwomen tried out a famous old southern dish Tuesday when the nominating committee of the Atlanta Woman's Club had a luncheon featured by cornpone and potlikker at Rich's team room. When a vote was taken on the proper method of eating this delectable dish the result was unanimously in favor of crumpling as against dunking. The diners are, from left to right seated, Mrs. D. F. Stevenson, Mrs. George L. Turner and Miss Virginia Hardin; standing, Mrs. E. V. Carter, Mrs. Walter A. Sims, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson and Mrs. Thornton M. Fincher. EXCELLENT ADVICE THAT CAME TOO LATE Cornpone and Potlikker Editor, Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Sir: Should you decide to send Governor Walker a sample of Georgia potlikker, for goodness' sake send him cabbage potlikker instead of turnip green potlikker. And put in an "ashcake" instead of cornpone.

If you don't know what ashcake is, ask the old-timers.

URGES VOTE BY WIRE ON DUNKING CONTROVERSY

Potlikker and Cornpone Editor, Atlanta Constitution.

The question of dunking or crumpling cornpone can only be settled by a vote. Here's my three votes for dunking. Let every man have one vote for each member of his family and wire you the result. You will find the dunkers will lead by a landslide.

MONROE, GA., DIVIDED ON CORNPONE PROBLEM

Potlikker and Cornpone Editor, The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Sir: Monroe is divided on the question.

A poll conducted by the Tribune this morning revealed that some crumble and some dunk. The crumblers, however, are in the majority. The younger generation are non-committal, but the older folks talk freely about the raging controversy. It is suggested here that the matter be settled by the national guards of Louisiana and Georgia—the former fed on dunked pone, the latter on crumbled pone—in a battle to be staged on neutral territory—probably on the plains around Troy, Ala., to give it a historical setting.

Personally, we're for crumpling, and will be until the last pone is baked. (Signed) H. B. CAUSEY, Associate Editor, The Walton Tribune.

SAYS IT'S "POTLIKKE" AND NOT "POTLIKKE"

Editor The Constitution:

Mr. J. S. M. (Uncle Jake) Patton, a southern gentleman of the old school; many times doorkeeper for the Georgia senate and house of representatives; recognized as the last word in preparing and serving potlikker, chitterlings and cracklin' bread—with clabber or persimmon beer as the side drink—has consented to settle, once and for all, your discussion about "potlikker."

Should his authority be questioned, he offers as witnesses such distinguished southern gentlemen as Attorney-General George M. Napier and Judge Jesse Wood, who many times have been guests at his home when these renowned dishes were served.

"First," says "Uncle Jake," "you spell the word incorrectly. It is 'potlikker'—not 'potlikke'. The matter of crumpling or dunking the cornbread has no bearing on the potlikker itself, but is a question of manners," he says.

"Ladies must crumble the cornpone into the potlikker at all times, but gentlemen with large mouths and strong teeth are permitted to dunk the cornpone. However, after dunking the bread, a gentleman must, without noticeable effort, bite a chunk out of the pone. He must not pull on the pone like he does when he takes a bite out of a plug of tobacco. If he is unable to bite the pone with a gentle snap, he must use the crumble method."

"Uncle Jake" receives many inquiries about the proper method of preparing chitterlings, and last year was called upon to decide the question of whether clabber should be eaten with a spoon or drunk from the glass.

Cornpone and Potlikker Editor, The Atlanta Constitution.

Atlanta, Ga.

My dear Mr. Editor:

Hurrah for the Cornpone and Potlikker Editor of The Constitution! We all know that when the proper time came he would prove his mettle as a watchman upon the tower. Yours is a righteous cause, and you have not failed to discern the insidiousness of this sudden attack upon a southern institution so sacred as that of crumpling cornpone into the potlikker.

Dunking—who ever heard of such a method of procedure in dealing with these gastronomic delicacies? Why? To begin now to dunk would be to depart from the training of one's earliest childhood and to part company with those who have established customs for true southerners as fixed and as sacred as Websterian pronunciations are to devotees of this particular compiler of the dictionary.

Why, it all sounds almost as though Let it be repeated that yours is a just and righteous and altogether worthy cause. Hold on to the bitter end, and when this contention of that eminent governor and senator-elect molders in the dust, may your Bradford didn't know the combination but Mr. Hutchings, who realized there was no cash in the safe, volunteered to open it.

Bending to one knee and keeping one eye on his prisoners, the bandit searched the safe but found no money. All it contained was some papers and several ledgers which, in disgust, the bandit threw on the floor.

Noting an adjacent stockroom door open, the bandit commanded Mr. Zachry, Mr. Hutchings and their employees to enter. With the two executives went Bradford, Miss Wood, A. P. Waters, a clerk, Bud Sharts, Ray Spittler, Mrs. R. E. Biles and Mrs. A. L. Spradlin, all office workers. The bandit locked the door and rang for the elevator.

Thomas St. John, advertising manager for the store, was at his desk in the next room but did not know what was going on until the bandit stepped on the elevator. He then rushed to the locked stockroom and released the prisoners.

Returning to the first floor, the bandit walked briskly to the hat counter, extending to Rollins the $5 and taking the hat.

"Thank you, sir," Rollins said as he seat the $5 to the cashier. "Call again, soon."

DRYS OUTLINE PLANS FOR NEW CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The framework of what dry leaders forecast as one of the most militant temperance campaigns since prohibition was approved tonight by the national conference of organizations supporting the eighteenth amendment.

Seeking a united front in preparation for the coming presidential election, the conference voted to appoint a permanent "board of strategy" to furnish a co-ordinated leadership to its 33 member organizations.

Tentative approval also was given to the establishment in Washington of a permanent headquarters for the entire group, with a salaried executive to direct its functions.

The conference ratified a virtually new constitution, prepared by a committee of 16 nationally-known leaders.

Details of the constitution were temporarily withheld, pending a final clean-up of incidental matters.

Meanwhile approval also was given to a plan to admit nationally-known business and professional men to membership, although they represented no organization.

Dr. Ernest Cherrington, secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism and chairman of the dry group, said the conference now would turn to laying plans for the 1932 campaign.

"There has been manifest in this meeting," Dr. Cherrington said, "more real interest in a united effort on the part of temperance groups than I have seen for many years. Whatever specific plans may be adopted we have reached the state where we can really get together."

2 BANDITS FOILED BY GROCER'S RUSE

A panicky groceryman and two policemen frustrated a pair of attempted hold-ups Tuesday.

Sam Bergman, operator of a grocery at 418 Martin street, S. W., pretended to be shot when one of a pair of negro bandits fired at him as he ran from his store. The negroes, thinking Bergman was wounded, fled without taking anything.

Patrolmen D. T. Barge and F. L. Tiffin, returning from a call, drove up to a filling station at Edgewood avenue and Jackson street, just as a group of bandits, one of them armed with a sawed-off shotgun, stepped from their automobile to rob the place. Seeing the officers the bandits clamored into their car and drove off. The officers pursued them to the city limits, beyond which duty did not call.

TENNESSEE PROBE CALLS 5 BANKERS

Mystery Witnesses Revealed as Officers of Caldwell and Company.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 24.—(P) The mystery witnesses who the state affairs legislative investigators believe possess thus far hidden information bearing on state finances and bank failures were revealed tonight as five officials of the defunct Caldwell and Company and the Bank of Tennessee: J. Dewitt Carter, vice president; Ernest B. Smith, trust officer; Ed A. Goodloe, cashier of the Bank of Tennessee; Ronald Voss, assistant to the president, and T. G. Donovan, secretary and treasurer.

Subpoenas were served on the five officials tonight by the sergeant-at-arms demanding their appearance before the committee tomorrow.

The committee was expected to grant immunity to these witnesses if they will tell all they know about the failures of the two institutions that started banks tottering, resulting in the tie-up of large state funds.

Testimony before the committee has involved all five of the witnesses and the investigators believe their testimony will be startling.

State Treasurer John F. Nolan, former tombstone cutter, was charged today by Highway Commissioner Robert H. Baker with attempting to make him suppress information to the state affairs legislative investigators for fear of involving Colonel Luke Lea, master politician, and Baker said Nolan slipped him out of a side door to prevent their being seen together.

The charge was made in a formal statement read from the stand by the commissioner. It said that on February 6 Baker and his chief accountant, G. H. Briley, went to the capitol and were called by Nolan into the treasurer's office. The treasurer, he said, told him that attorney Joe V. Williams, committee counsel, had asked him if he had refused to accept some $5,000,000 of highly withdrawn checks, which Baker said he had written after a conference at Colonel Luke Lea's home with Nolan to redistribute the funds to avoid republican criticism during the last governor's race.

Baker's statement said Nolan told him that he had informed Mr. Williams that he knew nothing of the transaction and he did not think there was any use telling all they knew. Baker said he told him that the committee already had questioned him and he had told them that he had sent the vouchers to the treasurer and that he had refused to accept them.

"He (Nolan) then said, 'Briley brought them up and asked me to hold them,' the commissioner's statement said.

"Mr. Briley replied, 'I did not ask you to hold them. I asked you to take them and give me a receipt for them, as I understood you had agreed to take them.'

"Mr. Nolan said, 'I don't say anything about an agreement as that might bring Colonel Lea into it.' "I said that if this brings Colonel Lea into it, he will have to be brought in," the commissioner said.

"Mr. Nolan said, 'We had better not be seen together. Go out the side door.'

"Mr. Briley and I left Mr. Nolan's office through the side door."

In his earlier appearance before the committee, Mr. Nolan testified that he had not agreed at Colonel Lea's to accept the vouchers and that Mr. Baker knew they were not supposed to be cashed and that it was only a scheme to make the record look good to hoodwink the republicans who had demanded a statement of special highway funds deposits. The checks later were cancelled by Baker and some of the money lost in bank failures.

From this the hearing rambled from subject to subject. During the day Mr. Baker said he wished to correct the impression of some of his previous testimony including that in which he had said he had been "drawn and quartered" by Colonel Luke Lea and others. He said he had meant everybody who had been pressing him for roads and jobs. He declared he had never taken orders from Colonel Lea but had acted on some of his requests.

He denied flatly that he had been appointed commissioner through the influence of Colonel Lea or Rogers Caldwell, the big banker, whose bank went to ruins. He said he took the job reluctantly because Governor Henry Horton virtually had begged him to take it after Commissioners Niel Bass and Colonel Harry S. Berry had been fired. He denied any knowledge of why they were removed.

"Did you ever hear Colonel Berry say that the Lea-Caldwell forces had led him to the penitentiary doors but

This morning at 8:45 o'clock a special train will roll into the Terminal station. On board will be R. S. Rothfel, better known as "Roxy," Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink and 80 vocal and instrumental artists. They come to Atlanta to present two benefit concerts today at the Fox theater, the proceeds above actual expenses to go to the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children. The concerts are given under the stage at the Fox theater and, with that winning personality that made the Roxy radio hours perhaps the most popular of all air entertainment, will introduce his stars, direct his orchestra and act as the link between audience and artists. Roxy is bringing his entire "gang" to Atlanta with him, with Madame Schumann-Heink, the great opera and concert contralto, as added allurements. The orchestra, singers, comedians and dancers who used to entertain the world from the radio studio of the Roxy theater in New York, will give the same delightful entertainment from the stage of the Fox theater today. Roxy is bringing the outfit complete—except the Roxy theater, and even if he could have moved that from New York, it would have been unnecessary, for Atlanta has her Fox.

This morning at the Terminal station a committee of leading officials and citizens of the city and the state will welcome Roxy, Madame Schumann-Heink and all the distinguished fellow artists. The reception group will be headed by Governor-elect Richard B. Russell, Mayor James L. Key and a special committee of Shriners. The party, after breakfast, will be taken on a tour of the city, including a visit to the Scottish Rite hospital, prior to the first concert at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Reserved seats for either of the two performances may be secured, either at the Fox theater or at Cable Piano Company. There has been a tremendous demand and it is expected that the theater, big as it is, will be filled to capacity.

The theater management has turned the house over to the Yaarab temple for the day. Members of the entire house personnel, from Manager Carter Barron to the humblest employee, are giving their services free today, to aid the deserving beneficiary of the concert. The theater's corps of 48 ushers was specially drilled, at the close of the final regular performance on Tuesday, in order that there may be no confusion in seating the crowds today.

While the starting hour for both concerts is announced, it is impossible to say how long either concert will continue. That is in the hands of Roxy and he is quite apt to run a program indefinitely, so long as the audience shows its enthusiastic approval.

Among the many famous artists included in the 80 instrumentalists, singers and dancers who are members of the "Roxy Gang," are Beatrice Belkin (courtesy Metropolitan Opera Company), Patricia Bowman, Celia Branz, Marie Bowman, "Daddy" Jim Coombs, Adelaide De Loca, Lucille Fields, Isabel Henderson, Dorothy Miller, Frank Moulton, Margaret McKee (Mickey), Mildred Newton, Viola Philo, "Wee Willie" Robyn, the Roxy male quartet, Harold Vanduzee, Leo Rosotto, Harold Clyde Wright and the famous Roxy orchestra.

Invitations have been extended to "Roxy and His Gang" to be the guests of Potentate Richard N. Fickett, Jr., at the dance following their appearance at the Fox theater for the Scottish Rite hospital performance.

The dances will be held in the elaborately decorated Egyptian ballroom. They will be given throughout the season under the direction of Mort Freeman, entertainment director of the mosque.

CIGAR MAKERS OPPOSE BAN ON SUMATRA LEAF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(P)—Proposals for excluding imported Sumatra tobacco were attacked today before custom officials and the senate finance committee by domestic cigar manufacturers.

Testifying on the Kendall bill before the committee, Junius Parker, of New York, counsel for the American Cigar Company, said the Kendall provision for advancing from January 1, 1932, to April 1, 1931, the date for barring goods made by convict, forced or indentured labor, would work a hardship on manufacturers who use Sumatra tobacco.

PERUVIAN REBELS GAINING IN SOUTH

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 24.—(P)—The southern rebels who seized the city of Arequipa last week have set up their own Peruvian government under the name "Southern Junta," and the troops garrisoned at Cuzco have joined their banner.

These facts were made known by the Lima government tonight a few hours earlier after 100 high officers of the loyal Lima garrison had decided to parley with the southern rebels, hoping to avert civil war, and voted to send three of their number south by airplane.

As far as could be learned tonight, however, the three had not left. The government statement said the department of Apurimac, lying between Cuzco and Arequipa, had refused to adhere to the insurgent movement and blocked the flow of Cuzco troops to Arequipa.

The government's statement tonight asserted that perfect calm prevailed in the remainder of the country.

Some excitement was caused in the capital late today when the Cuzco telegraph office wired out a dispatch that Lieutenant Colonel Beytia had reached Lima and that Sanchez Cerro had been shot by a firing squad. This was emphatically denied by the government bulletin.

HITCH HIKERS FACE MURDER CHARGES

BARDSTOWN, Ky., Feb. 24.—(P) Announcements that indictments charging murder would be sought against Tony Peterson, 20, and Frank Carsons, 21, was made here today by Ernest N. Fulton, county attorney, investigating the slaying yesterday of a Louisville & Nashville railroad executive, who had given the men a ride. Mr. Fulton said he would submit the case to the Nelson county grand jury as soon as possible.

Carl B. James, 58, Louisville, general development agent for the railroad, was shot through the heart on the road between here and Hodgenville yesterday. Peterson and Carsons were arrested soon after when they crashed James' car into the courthouse at Hodgenville. They were not seriously hurt.

couldn't make him go in?" asked Committee member Robert L. Alexander, Jr.

"No, sir," said Baker. "I believe I heard him say 'God help you' when I took the job."

SENATE TO PROBE REPORT OF BRIBE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(P)—The senate's strike-torn lobby committee was revived today to investigate published reports an unnamed senator had received from $100,000 to $150,000 from a domestic sugar company while congress was considering the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

The committee was called to meet tomorrow after Senator Davis, republican, Pennsylvania, former secretary of labor, asked Chairman Caraway for an immediate and complete investigation of the reports.

A full inquiry also was demanded on the senate floor by Senators Borah, republican, Idaho; Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, and Nye, republican, North Dakota, after Borah read the story published in a New York newspaper.

Nye, chairman of the campaign funds investigating committee, said his committee had made a partial investigation of the reports, but had abandoned its inquiry when it found no evidence of money being contributed to the senator's campaign fund.

Questioned by other senators, Nye said he had turned what evidence he found over to the lobby committee because he felt his committee had no jurisdiction and not because he felt there was nothing to investigate.

In a formal statement earlier in the day, however, Nye had said it would "not surprise" him if the lobby committee found the allegations without merit and report it found nothing "reflecting upon the honor, honesty, or integrity of the senator involved."

Davis, a member of the Hoover, Coolidge and Harding cabinets, who was not a member of the senate when the tariff bill was being considered, told newspapermen he had asked Caraway for an immediate investigation.

"I, as one senator, demand that the charges be gone into to the fullest extent," Davis said. "I told Senator Caraway I would get the witnesses he wanted. The sooner they get to it the better off we all will be."

Borah said he was sure the senate would want the charges investigated pointing out that no name was mentioned.

Would Be Authorized. Asserting the lobby committee, of which he is a member, would be authorized to make such an inquiry,

Borah said, "I urge that the lobby committee make an investigation and report the facts to the senate."

Robinson, democratic leader, joined Borah's demand for an inquiry. "Certainly the charges should not go without notice," he said. "If the lobby committee declines to pursue the matter it will be necessary to create a committee to investigate the charge."

Nye told the senate what he had said in his public statement, but added he did not want the conclusion drawn that his committee made a "full and thorough investigation" of the charges.

Robinson said he did not want an investigation if it would reflect on senators unfairly and if those against the tariff bill in the case did not think there was justification for an inquiry. He asked Nye if he was convinced the charges were "unfounded or unjust."

"Finding no foundation for the allegation that money was contributed to the senator's campaign fund," Nye said, "and yet knowing the remainder of the story I felt duty bound to submit it to the chairman of the lobby committee."

Charges Persist. Nye said he did not want to give credence to any such story until it had been proven but added, "these charges have persisted from week to week, and some committee ought to go thoroughly into them."

Republican Leader Watson asked if Nye's committee had received rumors that somebody had given $100,000 to some senator.

"No specified amount was mentioned," Nye said.

"Was there something of that kind?"

"There was."

Borah asked if the committee had ended its inquiry because it found its jurisdiction did not cover the case.

Nye replied it had.

"Not because there was nothing to investigate," Borah asked.

"Indeed, no," Nye replied.

Caraway announced his committee would meet tomorrow to organize the inquiry but would not hear any witnesses then.

MAN, WIFE TESTIFY AT ASSAULT TRIAL

Mr. and Mrs. Levis Tell Story of Alleged Outrage Near Jonesboro.

JONESBORO, Ga., Feb. 24.—Introduction of defense witnesses in the trial of Tolbert Gilbert, Clayton county youth, who is charged with robbery and assault to murder jointly with Lynn Lee, began Tuesday afternoon. Indications are that jury consideration of the case will begin by noon today.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Levis, prosecuting witnesses, were placed on the stand Tuesday by the state to tell of their alleged mistreatment at the hands of the defendants. Levis and his wife, who were married in Cleveland, Ohio, said that their car broke down between Jonesboro and Lovejoy while they were traveling south for Levis' health, and they sold the machine for junk.

Levis and his wife started back to Atlanta, and were offered a lift by two men, one of whom they identified as the defendant on trial, Gilbert. The two youths, after a brief ride, told Levis and his wife they were going to a still, and Levis protested. The witnesses said Levis was beaten and thrown out of the car and his wife was carried off, he said. Mrs. Levis was kept out all night and dumped on the highway the next morning by the two men, and managed to catch a ride to Atlanta on a fruit truck, it was said.

Testimony was given regarding the swearing out of a warrant against Gilbert by Levis the day following the incident. Solicitor-General Claude Smith introduced Dr. T. H. Hancock, of Atlanta, and Dr. H. D. Kemper, of Jonesboro, to testify regarding Levis' wounds.

Defense Attorney O. J. Coogler, of Jonesboro, after the state rested, began introducing testimony relating to the conduct of Mrs. Levis in Atlanta, in what was an effort to impeach her testimony.

Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, is presiding at the trial. Lee's case will be called after the Gilbert case is disposed of, it was said.

Mother Builds Up Underweight Children

Husband Gains Strength After Serious Illness

A half-sick, run-down child is ill-equipped to face the season's dangers. With strength at a low ebb, even an ordinary cold or sore throat may be serious.

Now is the time to build up health and vigor. Mrs. Estelle Frey, 11 Nevada Avenue, Malden, Massachusetts, says: "Father John's Medicine is my old standby. My husband had a serious illness which left him very weak. Father John's Medicine built him up wonderfully. My children were underweight, so I gave them Father John's Medicine with the same results. I recommend it to any mother for growing children."

The experience of Mrs. Frey is typical of what has happened in countless homes for over 75 years. This is because Father John's Medicine is a scientific combination of proved body builders. It contains no alcohol or drugs so that it can be given in perfect safety to even an infant.

Follow the Experience of 184 Hospitals and Institutions Because of its composition and its method of manufacture Father John's Medicine supplies just the right amount of cod liver oil in the right form to do the most good. Children thrive on it amazingly. Pale cheeks glow with health and color. Appetite becomes keen and sharp. Pounds are added. Colds break up. Sick spells are few and far between.

If your child has a cough or cold, or if any one in your family is pale, underweight or run-down, give Father John's Medicine a chance to demonstrate what it can do for you. All druggists have it.

WITNESS ACCUSED OF ARSON GUILT

MACON, Ga., Feb. 24.—(P)—A Bibb superior court jury in the trial of Henry S. Townsend, Greenville, S. C. lumberman, on an indictment charging arson in connection with the discovery of a "fire trap" in the basement of the Hotel Yonon, in the city here last November, this afternoon heard Townsend's counsel accuse the state's principal witness of perpetrating the crime for which he is on trial.

The accused witness, H. G. Amos, former superintendent of the plant here, was on the stand, and at the time the accusation was made, was being cross-examined by James H. Price, of counsel for the defense.

Mr. Price charged that Amos, whose connection with the company ended a year ago because the plant had ceased operation, set the "fire trap" and called officers to the scene to "secure" officials of the company into giving him a job as night watchman.

The plant is operated by the Norris Brothers Company, Greenville lumber concern. D. L. Norris, president of the company, is under indictment, too, for arson. Townsend is an inspector for the company. The trial of Townsend began this morning.

Amos was the first to take the stand for the state, and remained there throughout the day.

When court was recessed at 6 o'clock this afternoon, the former superintendent was on the stand, and was being cross-examined by the state's counsel.

Gainesville-To-Franklin Motorcade Celebrates Completion of Paved Highway From Miami to Quebec

Scenes at Gainesville on Tuesday when a great motorcade, sponsored by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, celebrated completion of the through highway between Miami and Asheville, by hard-surfacing of the link between Gainesville and Baldwin. The central picture shows part of the long line of automobiles shortly after leaving Gainesville.

BY GEORGE HATCHER. (Constitution Staff Correspondent.) Over a trail through North Georgia's picturesque mountain area, a motorcade moved from here Tuesday to Franklin, N. C., formally dedicating the final paved link of transcontinental road from Miami, Fla., to Quebec, Canada.

The new road, from New Holland to Lakemont and Tallulah Falls, and also a short route from Atlanta to Asheville, N. C., constructed entirely of Georgia materials, it stretches out over 22 miles, surrounded by tall pines and beautiful hills, past Mount Yonon, Tallulah Falls, Lake Burton and Rabun Gap, which makes it one of the most scenic highways in the state.

A holiday spirit prevailed in Gainesville and more than 400 persons, including business leaders, county officials and a number of visitors made the inaugural trip.

With almost a hundred elaborately decorated automobiles forming the official contingent, the motorcade left here at 9 o'clock. W. C. Thomas, of Atlanta, was marshal of the day. Behind the pace-making car was the Riverside Military Academy band.

The good will party was greeted at Lakemont by Mayor Paul Turner, and the response was made by A. S. Hardy, Sr., president of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce.

After having briefly in Baldwin, the motorcade moved on to Cornelia, where refreshments were served by the Cornelia Chamber of Commerce, and then to Gainesville.

At Gainesville, the caravan stopped next in Demorest, where the entire student body of Piedmont College gathered to give the visitors a vociferous welcome. Speakers here were J. C. Rogers, dean of Piedmont College, and Colonel Hammond Johnson, of Gainesville.

At Clarksville, L. A. Mauldin, president of the Clarksville Chamber of Commerce, and N. E. Gabriel, ordinance of Habersham county, and Henry H. Estes, prominent civic leader of Gainesville, were the speakers.

One of the entertaining features of the day was at Clayton, where a group of Breunau College girls presented a musical program. Members of the motorcade were guests at luncheon of the Clayton Chamber of Commerce, and short addresses were made by Victor Allen, of Buford; Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Pierce, and John Paschall, Atlanta.

Although the party reached Franklin an hour behind schedule hundreds of Franklin citizens lined the streets to help celebrate completion of the road. Mayor George B. Patton presented the key, to the city to Mr. Hardy, of Gainesville.

In response, Mr. Hardy told of how this section will be benefited by the opening of the new road. "The dedication of this highway," Mr. Hardy declared, "means that a great part of the tourist traffic will be diverted to north Georgia. The road now provides a direct connection through the Shenandoah valley to Washington and the east, and also serves as a link for western tourists through Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo."

Mr. Hardy declared that the motorcade was "a splendid success."

The motorcade was sponsored by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, with co-operation from the city's leading businessmen, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, Piedmont College, Riverside Military Academy, the Paul E. Holding post of the American Legion, and Breunau College.

The committee in charge of arrangements and the program along the route included E. R. Barrett, Roy Newman, Dan Jacobs and C. V. Nalley.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 24.—(P)—A Belgian member of one of the most aristocratic families in the world has been found here—Darlingtonia, a member of the orchid family, that eats beefsteak for dinner.

A nurseryman who displayed the flower here said it came from the state of Washington, can withstand a temperature of 20 degrees below zero and that it will eat beefsteak when there are no gnats, flies or other insects to be had.

This member of the orchid family—the nurseryman said there are 5,000 members—is green and has a mouth-like opening in which insects are caught. Here they remain until they die, are dissolved into a honey-like substance and taken up by the orchid. In the absence of insects it is fed tiny bits of meat.

13-Year-Old Negro Robs Tax Collector

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Feb. 24.—The story of how a negro boy, Dike Turner, 13 years of age, robbed the office of the Gwinnett county tax collector of between $50 and $100 was revealed here Tuesday when the suspected thief was lodged in jail. The boy is said to have confessed his theft.

The boy is alleged to have made his first theft early in February, entering the office by means of a janitor's key while Tax Collector H. J. Hinton was out. Later he tried to trick Hinton by telephoning and representing himself as an employee of the bank, inviting the collector to "come down and make a deposit," despite that it was after banking hours. By tracing the telephone call the police were able to apprehend the boy.

Among the organizations and individuals registered in the motorcade were: J. E. Owen, E. R. Barrett, C. V. Nalley, W. Hayes, R. W. Smith, E. C. Brewer, W. T. Martin, I. L. Lawson, J. W. Sloan, B. A. 3 ATLANTANS INJURED IN CRASH NEAR MACON

Auto Skids on Wet Pavement, Plunges Down Embankment and Overturns.

An automobile skidded on the wet pavement of the Houston road, 12 miles south of Macon, Tuesday morning, plunged over a steep embankment, turned over and pinned down its occupants—Mr. and Mrs. George K. Griffin and Mrs. Hugh Taylor, all of Atlanta. Mrs. Griffin was severely injured, while the others were only bruised.

A party of tourists from a nearby camp pulled the injured persons from beneath the car. J. C. Ferguson took them to the Macon hospital.

Mrs. Griffin, 65, of 705 Vedado place, Atlanta, suffered a broken right leg and severe bruises. Her condition was reported fair. Mr. Griffin and Mrs. Taylor were treated for minor bruises and contusions.

Mr. Griffin told hospital physicians that he was turning a sharp curve when the car skidded. He said he tried to straighten the car, but it slipped sideways over the embankment. He said he was not speeding when the automobile skidded. He said they were returning to Atlanta from a pleasure trip in south Georgia.

Griffin is a postoffice foreman. Mrs. Taylor is the wife of a postoffice clerk and lives at 655 Parkway drive, N. E.

MORRIS BENJAMIN, 76, DIES IN BIRMINGHAM

Former Atlanta Businessman Had Wide Circle of Friends Here.

Morris Benjamin, 76, pioneer Atlanta businessman, died Tuesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. M. Benjamin, at Birmingham, where he had lived for a number of years. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel of Sam Greenberg & Company. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

A native of Germany, Mr. Benjamin resided for many years in Atlanta, having lived in the United States since his infancy. He moved here from Ocala, Fla., in 1880, and built one of the first ice manufacturing plants in the city. This plant was later purchased by the Atlantic Ice & Coal Company, after which Mr. Benjamin acquired the Atlanta Machine Works, operating the plant for many years, and finally selling it to the city.

During his residence in Florida, Mr. Benjamin was prominent in the citrus fruit and refrigerating industries, and on first moving to Atlanta was engaged for some time with his brothers in the wholesale tobacco business. In operating the Atlanta Machine Works he specialized in the manufacture of light house lanterns and other equipment for the federal government. He had many friends in Atlanta among whom he was highly esteemed for his business integrity.

Mr. Benjamin is survived by his widow, the former Miss Omelia Eichberg; two other daughters, Mrs. Joe Wolfe, of Greeley, Colo., and Miss Claire Louise Benjamin, of Chicago, and two sons, Malvern, of Philadelphia, and Clyde Benjamin, of Chicago.

SUPREME COURT SETS RECORD OF 32 CASES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(P)—The supreme court today set what its oldest attendants believe to be a record and a precedent in the number of cases it had ready in one day and adjourned to continue the reading of opinions tomorrow.

Ending a three-week recess, confronted by 46 cases fully argued and awaiting decision, the court returned today and disposed of 32.

The most important decision was the first, rendered by Justice Roberts, holding the prohibition amendment valid. The court also decided a number of other cases presenting prohibition controversies, and dismissed a suit brought by Alabama to tax the United States on hydro-electric power manufactured and sold at Muscle Shoals.

The court also decided that Russian citizens having claims against the United States for compensation for property taken by this government were entitled to have the claims adjudicated in the courts of this country regardless of the fact that the present Russian government has not been recognized by the United States.

Another decision held that persons who borrow money to purchase tax-exempt securities cannot deduct the interest they pay in computing their federal taxes.

BANCKENTUCKY DIRECTORS SUE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 24.—(P)—Joseph S. Laurent, receiver for the Bank of Kentucky Company, brought suit against the directors today for $600,000, alleged to be the loss of the corporation and its stockholders because the directors "utterly failed and grossly neglected to perform their duties."

The suit disclosed a Bank of Kentucky, Caldwell & Co. merger contract and revealed that Ben Robertson was the only director who opposed the Caldwell transaction.

Caldwell & Co., the petition alleged, was hopelessly insolvent at the time. The petition charged this could have been ascertained with reasonable care, but the deal was approved without investigation of the Nashville firm's assets.

M'KELLAR WARNS ON WET STAND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(P)—A new warning against the reported move to bring up the prohibition issue at the March 5 meeting of the democratic national committee was issued in the senate today by Senator McKellar, of Tennessee.

Predicting the best prospect for democratic success in 1932 since 1912, McKellar protested, however, "We cannot win on a wet or high tariff platform." He believed it was not the function of the national committee to adopt a platform.

Meanwhile, no word came from Chairman Raskob, who called the special meeting, as to his reported intention of seeking an anti-prohibition stand by the committee.

Joett Shouse, executive director of the committee, also maintained silence except to say the call for the meeting was broad enough to permit free discussion of policies but he did not know what would come up.

TEXARKANA, TEXAS, Feb. 24.—

(P)—The cooniness with which Miss Eura Langston, 20-year-old teller, met her commands unswerving, two rival bandits who attempted to rob the Guaranty Bond State bank at Redwater, Texas, 15 miles south of here today, and they fled without a shot.

The two men drove up in front of the bank in a roadster, leaving the motor running. They ran in with guns drawn and ordered Cashier R. W. Hanks and Miss Langston to get out.

The men started toward the door but one of them stepped into a rear room. One of the men ran to a window and leveled a gun at her, saying "Come out here, or you'll die."

Miss Langston still was calm and the nerve of one of the robbers broke. He said and started for the door. The other likewise ran for the car in which they fled.

SENATE WILL VOTE ON MEYER TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(P)—The long-contested nomination of Eugene Meyer, of New York, to be governor of the Federal Reserve Board, will be voted on by the senate tomorrow at 4 p. m. Indications tonight were he would be confirmed with many votes to spare.

The nomination, pending since early December but held up by a committee investigation, reached the floor for debate today. After a speech of more than two hours by Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, against confirmation, the senate unanimously agreed to vote after four more hours' discussion tomorrow.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the assistant republican leader, proposed the vote agreement while Brookhart was in the midst of an assault on Meyer's service in the War Finance Corporation and its loan board. The Iowaan will resume his speech tomorrow.

MAIL ORDER HOUSES WIN COURT DECISION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(P)—In a test case from Arkansas the supreme court today held that corporations which send merchandise into a state in violation of the state's laws to recover the balance due on shipments without qualifying under state laws to do business in the state.

The decision was handed down in a case involving the National Mail Order Association, which had been sued by the state of Arkansas for failing to qualify to do business there.

MORGAN YACHT MATE BELIEVED DROWNED

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 24.—(P)—Authorities today turned up the river in their search for Joseph Oats, missing second officer of J. P. Morgan's yacht, Corsair, that sailed yesterday for Mediterranean ports.

Information local officers obtained indicated that Oats had left the ship Sunday and returned here in a taxi cab without money to pay the driver. They quoted the driver as saying Oats had been drinking heavily. Oats' mates of the Corsair said he had more than $200 when he left the ship.

DAVIS SAYS PARTY WILL WIN IN 1932

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 24.—(P)—Describing himself now as "only a private citizen and a back burner in the rear ranks of politics," John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee in 1924, here today predicted that a wet democrat would be the next president of the United States.

Mr. Davis came to New Orleans as counsel for the American Cyanamid Company in a case to be heard before the United States fifth circuit court of appeals.

First 'Poor Man's Cafe' Opened in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 24.—(P)—The first of seven "poor man's" restaurants was opened here today by the federal district public charity. It served a complete meal for the equivalent of 10 cents American money.

Soup, real stew, beans and jellied squash were on the menu. Several hundred new-born babies and the jobless flocked to the restaurant.

"The six other restaurants will be opened within a few weeks."

Doan's Pills

A Diuretic for the Kidneys

"I had dull, dragging pains in the small of my back and sometimes sharp pains. Too, headaches and dizziness were almost a daily occurrence. The first week tried me so that I could hardly get about. Doan's Pills, however, relieved me of all these symptoms and I felt better in every way after using Doan's."

CRIPPLED CHILDREN BENEFIT FROM PERFORMANCES

Roxy and Schumann-Heink Contribute Services Today

The little crippled children out at the Scottish Rite hospital will be in the minds and hearts of Atlanta citizenry as it gathers en masse today to witness the two gala performances to be held today at the Fox theater, with Roxy and his famous radio gang and Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink as guest artists. The entertainments are held under the auspices of the Yaarab Temple of the Shrine, and the management of the Fox has given over the use of the vast theater to the worthy cause. The inimitable Roxy, who is known in private life as S. A. Rothafel, the master showman of radio and stage fame, arrives in the city this morning, accompanied by his illustrious gang of entertainers, and by Madame Schumann-Heink, whose glorious contralto voice has echoed round the world in many such worthwhile causes as this which brings her to the south. All of the entertainers are contributing their services for the benefit of the fund which forms the major part of the program of charities sponsored by the Yaarab Temple. Mr. Rothafel, who is himself a Shriner, has for years donated his talents for the benefit of Shrine charities throughout the country, and he has planned a special program, with Madame Schumann-Heink appearing for both the afternoon and evening performances. The artists will be met upon their arrival at 9 o'clock this morning by a delegation of prominent Shriners and government officials.

Programs To Be Given.

Programs will be given at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and at 8:15 o'clock this evening, each performance to be witnessed by a host of fashionable society, who never fails to answer the call of charity and always stands ready to enlist its aid in the noble cause which seeks to relieve suffering among the little afflicted inmates, special charges of the Atlanta Shriners. A chorus and a large symphony orchestra will accompany the Roxy gang. In the company will be Beatrice Belkin (by courtesy of the Metropolitan Opera Company), Patricia Bowman, dancer; Celia Branz, contralto; Marie Bowman, Daddy Jim Coombs, Adelaide de Loxa, Lucille Fields, Frank Moulton, Viola Philo, Woe Willie Robyn, the Roxy male quartet, Leo Russoto, Harold Van Duzee, Harold Clyde Wright, Margaret Micky McKee, Dorothy Miller, Isabelle Henderson, Mildred Newton and Josef Stopak. The company numbers in all over seventy members, and it presents one of the costliest attractions ever to go on tour.

Mrs. Hamilton Feted.

Mrs. Samuel Y. Tupper was hostess at an informal luncheon at the Capital City Club yesterday, complimenting Mrs. Frederick Hamilton, of New York.

Miss Virginia Dillon Is Lovely Sub-Deb Mannikin

The accompanying picture presents a charming pose of Miss Virginia Dillon, sub-deb daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dillon, pictured in an afternoon gown of flowered chiffon, in which she parades as a mannikin in the Fashion Revue and Extravaganza, being presented this week at the Paramount theater. Proceeds derived from this colorful event will be given to Tallulah Falls Industrial school. The revue is being produced under the personal supervision of Ronald B. Woodyard, head of the system bearing his name, with co-operation of the Young Matrons' Circle of Tallulah Falls school of Atlanta, assisted by the Young Girls' Circle. The Constitution and the Ronald B. Woodyard system have guaranteed the circle a percentage of their share in connection with the show. The costumes are being furnished by J. P. Allen & Co. The pageant will be given twice daily at the afternoon and evening performances in connection with the two spectacular motion pictures, "Kismet" and "Viennese Nights." In the former picture the noted actor, Otis Skinner, plays the leading role, while three renowned screen artists appear in "Viennese Nights," including Vivienne Segal, Walter Pidgeon and Alexander Gray. Photo by Kenneth Rogers, staff photographer.

Miss Jewell Weds Lieut. Burnside In Washington, D.C.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 24.—Miss Cecil Jewell, lovely young daughter of Colonel Frank C. Jewell and Mrs. Jewell, became the bride of Lieutenant John Lockwood Burnside at a quiet ceremony solemnized at noon Saturday in the chapel at the home of the Right Rev. James E. Freeman. Bishop Freeman performed the simple ceremony with only the members of the two families and a few very close friends present.

The lovely bride, a striking Titian blond, was gowning in a becoming model of beige lace made on princess lines with which she wore a smart beige toque and carried a bouquet of yellow roses tied with blue satin ribbon.

Following the ceremony the bridal party went to the home of Lieutenant and Mrs. George H. Burgess, 2550 Massachusetts avenue, where a wedding breakfast was served.

Lieutenant Burnside and his bride left after the reception for a short motor trip in the north, upon the completion of which Lieutenant Burnside will resume his studies at the submarine school in New London, Conn. The bride, who is the elder daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Jewell, made her debut in Atlanta during the season of 1922, and was one of the most popular members of the Debutante Club of that season. Colonel and Mrs. Jewell have made their home in Atlanta for the past several years, the Colonel being an executive officer of the fourth corps area coast artillery district.

Lieutenant Burnside is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Evan Burnside, who are prominently identified with social circles in the national capital. He was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1920. He is at present stationed at New London, Conn., where he is taking a course at the submarine school of the United States navy.

George Muse Co. Presents Revue Of Season's Smartest Fashions

Modish spring fashions, redolent of the smartest shops along the Rue de la Paix, will feature the revue of mannequins to be presented by the George Muse Clothing Company today and tomorrow between the hours of 11 and 1 o'clock at the Peachtree street store. A galaxy of youthful grace and beauty, selected from Hollywood's most gifted stars, who compose the personnel of the Fanchon Marco presentation at the Fox theater this week, will display to advantage the models which fashion experts have decreed shall make up milady's spring wardrobe.

The superb collection of gowns will feature costumes to face the whole gamut of the day from dawn to dewy eve, including those designed for sports, for street, for afternoon and evening wear. Accompanying each gown, and chosen with infinite skill and faultless taste, will be the proper accessories, from the lingerie, hose, and footwear to the hat, coat, the bag and jewels, forming a perfect ensemble to the trained eye, and emphasizing the value of correct assembling.

The charming mannequins, whom rigid theatrical training have developed to the nth degree in grace and poise, will lend a professional flair to the showing, which marks another step forward in the direction of progress for which this modern palace of merchandising is famed. The revue will be staged on both the fourth and fifth floors of the store, which are devoted exclusively to women's smart apparel, in order to accommodate the large portion of feminine Atlanta who will undoubtedly take advantage of this opportunity to view in advance these exquisite creations, which forecast the style trend of the season.

During the parade of the mannequins, each costume will be explained in detail by means of a loud speaker arrangement, calling attention to the approved color, design, cut and trimming which mark with distinction this season's toilettes. Enrico Leide will direct his orchestra in a program of music especially selected for the occasion, and the store will be elaborately decorated to furnish the proper background for the luxurious and colorful array of costumes, designed by the chief couturieres and assembled from the foremost marts of the world.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(P)—Reports were telling that to Europe at lower prices than private firms offered gave the grain market a boost today. Heavy snowfalls in Canadian wheat territory acted also as a bearish influence. Moisture relief for domestic winter wheat and United States supply increases, both in corn, were noted, sending corn down to a new low-price record for the season. New York closed closed sharp, unchanged to 1-2 cent lower. Corn futures were at 7-8 decline to 3-8 advance, and provisions unchanged to 15 cents up. Wheat near by was 1-2 cent lower when a deciding report by New York brokers said export sales of wheat for the past week had been conducted anonymously through brokers and that British millers also reported of increased United States government purchases of wheat. The market was unsettled by 1,180,000 bushels

The United States visible supply making the total 105,683,000 bushels against 157,400,000 a year ago.

Corn and oats go very well with wheat. Large amounts of corn from the principal markets continued to be shipped to Chicago.

Provisions were down despite lower quotations on hogs. Commission sales were on the buying side of demand.

NEW 1931 HIGHS

APPEAR ON CURB

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—In the most active session of the new year, the curb stocks were pushed up 1 to 5 points today.

Utility and industrial shares gave the greatest demonstration of strength, and many finished the day at new 1931 peaks.

Petroleum and investment trust shares were not participants in the buying movement. Oil was heavy, with Gulf a notable weak spot, while investment trusts held steady.

The day's trading volume of 924,000 shares was the largest since February 3, 1929, when the turnover was roughly 1,000,000. The advance encountered some rough trading, but it was readily absorbed and prices at the close were in most instances not far from the day's tops.

Electric Bond & Share soared 3 points to a new high for 1931 at 61 and closed at 62. The largest advance, however, came from the curb, where the day on old lot transactions, Tanna Electric, St. Regis Paper, Penn Water, International Utilities, and Northern States Power, all of which were heavy, were other strong utilities.

Buying of some of the industrials and specialties was the heaviest in weeks, and the list was sprinkled with comparatively large advances.
